

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK ... "Shelter from the Storm"

So, my prediction is that March will come in like a lion! That's the country lore about March, isn't it?

And, speaking of stormy weather and all, an old Bob Dylan song just ran through my head, Shelter from the Storm:

*'Twas in another lifetime, one of toil and blood
When blackness was a virtue the road was full of mud
I came in from the wilderness, a creature void of form
Come in, she said
I'll give ya shelter from the storm*

(Shelter from the Storm, Bob Dylan, January 13, 1964.)

If you will suffer me a wee bit of a tangent here, that old Bob Dylan song came into my head because of an effort by the Nitty-Gritty Dirt Band on February 5th of this year. Are you sitting down? This band, along with Roseanne Cash and Steve Earle reprised the old Dylan song, The Times, They are A-Changin. ' It was a charity effort and all proceeds are going to the Feeding America project to help with hunger in this country!

Old is the new...new! Who knew? You can Google this song up right now and listen to it, if you want.

All of this confluence pointing towards storms opened a memory in my head that was decades old! The scene opens and I am working on a research project for a counseling and pastoral care ministry curriculum; and, I ran across a case study that broke my heart wide open! In fact, I will go so far as to say it changed how I viewed Christianity.

As we peek behind the curtain, we see a young woman who is sitting by the bedside of her dying mother who is in a coma. Both the young woman and the mother were life-long Christians. They showed up at church every time the doors were open; and, they were enculturated with all the additional Christian bells and whistles.

In other words, they lived the Christian life, crossing every "T" and dotting every "I." They read their Bibles, prayed regularly; and, they utilized all the correct parlance such as I thank God for my salvation; and, they kept the requisite casserole dish handy for anybody who was hospitalized or had a death in their family.

But Houston, they had a huge problem. And, it is here that I will delve a wee bit more deeply. No one on earth needed shelter from the storm as badly as these two women.

The young daughter spent hours by her mother's bedside. She prayed into the wee hours of the night and morning. She repeated over and over again how much she loved the mother.

Then one morning, just before dawn the mother awakened from her coma. She suddenly opened her eyes and looked clearly and intently at the daughter.

The words began to flow, "You know," she whispered, "all my life I thought something was wrong with me. I have always felt that as hard as I tried, I just could not get things right!"

The woman shook her head and said, "What a waste."

She then closed her eyes, went back into her coma and passed from this world a few hours later. What a waste indeed.

And...there is Jesus. He said, "Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest. aka 'Come in,' he says, 'I'll give ya shelter from the storm (Matthew 11:28).'"

There is a term tossed about called Christology. This means the study of who Jesus was, is and will be.

Done incorrectly, Christianity can miss the mark by a mile, leaving us feeling in a fog. Christianity can make us feel oppressed, leaving us burdened and overwhelmed with the sense of something is wrong with me. I am never good enough. I just can't get things right. I just do not measure up.

This view of Christology is off target. It misses the mark badly. It's not even Biblical! Christ came to be for each of us that shelter from the storm.

For many of us, life hands us feelings of deficiency at every turn. And, it does not take much to make us feel this way...that we just do not cut it.

Our culture is highly competitive. It thrives by making others less. This is how culture becomes King of the Hill...by making others less.

Criticism flows like rainwater. Arguments arise easily nowadays. Our culture ceaselessly tracks down somebody to blame every time the wheels fall off.

We can become distracted. We can make mistakes at work. We can make a judgment call that feels right at the time but turns out to be wrong-er with each passing minute.

You can try to discuss something as benign as NASCAR on Social Media and get your head taken off. Culture seems to be intentional in making us feel not okay.

If we are trapped in this fog of life, we are unable to perceive the truth of who we really are. And, to be honest, I don't know how Christ could have been any clearer.

“For God sent the Son into the world, not to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him (John 3:17 NIV).”

“Do not think that I have come to abolish the Law or the Prophets; I have not come to abolish them but to fulfill them (Matthew 5:17 NIV).”

Finally, I just love the way that The Message Bible spells this out, “Are you tired? Worn out? Burned out on religion? Come to me. Get away with me and you'll recover your life. I'll show you how to take a real rest. Walk with me and work with me—watch how I do it. Learn the unforced rhythms of grace. I won't lay anything heavy or ill-fitting on you. Keep company with me and you'll learn to live freely and lightly (Matthew 11:28-30 MSG).”

To say it bluntly, Come in, he said, I'll give ya shelter from the storm.

Let's not waste even one more second. A soul is a terrible thing to waste in the first place.

To do Christianity correctly, all we have to do is listen to his words, keep company with me and you'll learn to live freely and lightly. This is a savior that we can get behind every single day.

Jimmy
